

NH launches new wedding planning website

January 29, 2012

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire tourism officials want state businesses to feel the love with a wedding planning website to lure couples planning their big day.

The website features hundreds of venues and allows planners to search by indoor and outdoor facilities and reception space.

The website also helps wedding planners find photographers, florists, bakers, printers, caterers and other services.

Tourism officials say the website is a way to showcase the distinctive wedding experiences New Hampshire has to offer, from mountaintops to lakesides to its inns and grand old hotels.

The travel and tourism department also is launching a Facebook page to create an interactive forum for planners and host properties and service providers.
